300-Yr.-Old French Jeton Depicts UFO

Researched and Written by
Kenneth C. Schellhase
Professor of History
Northern Michigan University
Marquette, Michigan

A jeton (a coin-like token for financial calculation, teaching arithmetic, souvenirs, and games) minted in France in the 1680's shows a disc-shaped thing in the sky which, as its legend points out, "arrives at a good time" ("opportunus adest"). It is a UFO: unidentified, flying (arriving while in the sky), and obviously an object. Determination of its identity is immediately inhibited by contrived vagueness: "a good time" — but without a date in exergue. Undated pieces of base alloys are jetons banaux: "banal," or common. Yet, with some inconsistency, someone, most likely a bureaucrat but possibly even a private subject, thought the event uncommonly important enough to go to the mint at the Louvre in Paris (where all jetons legally had to be made after 1672), submit the design, have it tooled by the die cutter, and minted — although only one other but heavily worn example may exist.

An understanding of what the designer intended is frustrated also by its uncomplementary reverse face: perfectly conventional in the beneficient cloud raining upon fleurs-de-lis of France with the petition to "let me care for what you have grown" ("haec per te aucta colam"). Fortunately this identical unremarkable face was used on another jeton of the period, which not only helps to place the UFO-jeton securely in this decade but also more fully establishes the legitimate or non-contraband Louvre origin of the issue. Perhaps archives of the Front and reverse sides of the 1680's Jeton from the collection of Kenneth E. Bressett.

Cabinet des Medailles may hold documents for the consignment of jeton job orders to the die engravers. Without such data, a particular person, a place, an exact date, may remain unknown.

However, these questions could be answered indirectly through corroboration of the "sighting" on the jeton with a contemporary written report of a UFO observation matching its description. No such report has been discovered. In other countries in Europe near and in these years there are CUFOS-catalogued UFO reports of the Night Light category: Italy in 1676, England in 1677, Leipzig and Hamburg, Germany in 1680, and Leipzig again in 1686. The much-talked-about (Halley's) comet of 1680-1681 stimulated a wide popular interest in the night sky. But this jeton's Daylight Disc lacks contemporary comment.

Particularly disappointing is the absence of any reference to it in the Journal des scavans, a fortnightly publication of the Royal Academy of Sciences. In this seventeenth century version of something between Scientific American and Omni almost everything conceivable is criticize, reviewed, and reported: mathematics, physics, history, inventions, "aventures veritables, monstres, prodiges, apparitions celestes, trembles-terres & autres choses curieuses" — everything from Descartes' philosophy and the Salian Franks through telescope construction and American tobacco to comets causing hens to lay eggs with blotches resembling human visages, star patterns, and Louis' regalia. Yet, no Daylight Disc.

On the other hand, an object may never have been reported; it could be purely symbolic, never actually observed. Jeton types are myriad: historical events, striking natural occurrences, fauna, flora, classical and Biblical allusions — to mention some of the major kinds. But griffins, saints, trees, and Apollo's chariot are easily recognized. This Daylight Disc defies explanation, Louis XIV's sun disc appears on many jetons but they really look like sun discs. A Francophile citizen of Strasbourg heralding Louis' recent acquisition (1684) of the city would not have let the Sun King's glory — "arriving at a good time" — shine so ambiguously. Similar unsuccessful interpretations can be tried for crowns, flowers, mushrooms, and even, round loaves of bread (unlike the typical modern French cigar-shaped ones). Equally strained is any association of the jeton image with Ezekiel's wheels. Moreover, the most

CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Dr. Hynek:

I had meant to write you last fall (1980) when I saw an unidentified flying object. However, I did not have your address at the time and it completely slipped my mind until I was reading an article in McCall's magazine February 1981. The object that I saw is very similar to one described by Rick Mitchener.

I was driving back from Lake Erie to Findlay, Ohio on Route 53 south of Port Clinton and it was night, approximately 10 or 11 p.m.

The object I saw was flying at about 25 to 50 feet off the highway parallel to it and in the opposite direction to my travel.

It was not lighted, and I saw it only be reflection of the headlights. It was dull bluish grey in color, appeared spherical and was about the size of a volleyball or basketball...there were no reflection highlights and it made no sound.

It appeared to be travelling at approximately 50 to 60 mph. I was passing an empty field at the time. There were no trees and it was definitely not a stationary object attached to any of the phone or power lines.

My wife was with me in the car at the time, but was taking a nap, so I have no (other) witnesses. Even if she had been awake, it is unlikely she would have seen anything unless she had happened to glance up from the roadway as I had done at the time.

There was no interference with the operation of the automobile nor any other associated phenomenon that I am aware of.

I would be interested if any other flying blue-grey beach balls have been noted. My own and the one in McCall's are the only two that I have ever heard of.

Thanks for your time and effort. I believe that the UFO phenomenon is certainly worthy of continued study.

Sincerely,
Brooks A. Mick, M.D.
Findlay, Ohio

CUFOS,

I would like to obtain the ASSOCIATE NEWSLETTER back issue Vol. 1 No. 1, to complete my set. There is also (enclosed my contribution as an ASSOCIATE.)

Page 3 of your recent NEWSLETTER (March) mentions reports of unusual aircraft in the 1930s collected by Anders Liljegren in Sweden. I, for one, would very much like to see a synopsis of some of these reports. Perhaps you can urge Mr. Liljegren to write up what he has so far in appropriate length for inclusion in a future issue. The appearance of such an article may "shake loose" some similar sighting reports from other readers, which can be added to the project. (We will contact Mr. Liljegren. Ed.)

As for the photos on the cover from Nancy Parker, I believe them to be a multi-surface reflection of the sun, involving a window and camera lens. I have seen several like this, including the poor reproduction enclosed. I think APRO has a good example and printed it some years ago in their BULLETIN, but I was unable to find (my copy). The enclosure comes from "The TRUE Report on FLying Saucers" -1 (1967), by the editors of TRUE MAGAZINE. The predictable witness account on these (if available) will read . . . "I didn't see any UFO when I took the picture, but when I got them back from the drugstore, there it was!"

Best regards to all involved with CUFOS,

Jerold R. Johnson
Austin, Texas

Dear John,

. . . Seat 7A, in any airliner, is a left-side window, facing the front of the aircraft. Shoreline was stated to be to the right of the plane. The sun was rising back to her far right. . . . Therefore, she was not sitting in seat 7A or she was heading South, not North. The usual FAA flight paths from San Francisco to Los Angeles are out over the water heading South and inland when heading North.

What direction was the aircraft heading? Where did she board the aircraft? What was the green light she referred to?

The bright edge reflection on the window frame does not establish whether the aircraft was heading North or South.

Maybe she was assigned seat 7A, but got up and crossed the aisle to take the pictures.

I suspect that what you have is some kind of sun-flare.

Best regards,
Jennie Zeidman
Columbus, Ohio

(These and other comments we have received indicate that Nancy Parker's photograph will probably be classified as a "probable lens-flare." ASSOCIATES Richard Haines, Jerold Johnson and Jennie Zeidman believe this will be the outcome and together they represent many years of high-quality UFO research. □ detailed concordances of the Bible and the Greek and Roman classics yield no connection either for words which can describe it or for the word "opportunus" and its cognates.

Finally, perhaps the image is purely imagined, an irrational dream or even Carl Jung's projection (however "synchronistic") of a mandala by the collective unconscious. But whatever Jung says about socio-psychological anxiety, France in the 1680s was secure, aggressive, and highly confident in its superiority. There is a certain obstruentism in Jung's approach. Historical continuity easily cuts through it: historical UFOs are similar and often identical to modern UFOs — even when most everything else changes, as for example, between the France of the 1680's jeton and the France of the 1980's GEPAN.

The jeton has been owned for twenty-four years by Mr. Kenneth E. Bressett, an expert numismatist, an ex-editor of COINS Magazine (see the October, 1978 issue for his

Professional Librarians Read UFO Article By Associate Eberhart

In the cloistered quarters of professional library periodical literature a valuable article appeared recently. If you are near a library which belongs to the American Library Association, they will be able to show you Volume 20, #2, Winter 1980 REFERENCE QUARTERLY, pages 144 through 148, in which it appeared.

This article discusses the difference between the serious ufologist and the interested novice. A 1976 survey conducted among donors to the Center for UFO Studies shows the social characteristics of ufologists. The essential reference works on UFOs and the most prominent UFO journals are reviewed and problems that libraries have in collecting UFO literature are discussed.

The author, ASSOCIATE George M. Eberhart, is a former serials/reader services librarian for the University of Kansas School of Law Library at Lawrence, Kansas. He is currently the editor of COLLEGE & RESEARCH LIBRARIES NEWS, American Library Association Headquarters, Chicago. Mr. Eberhart is the official librarian for the Center for UFO Studies. □

Hopefully Mr. Bressett's love of scientific inquiry will encourage others to come forth with their treasured UFO reports, even 300-year-old ones. □

Reminder of May Meetings In Arkansas

If you missed our notice in the February issue, this is to bring to your attention a special series of appearances by Dr. Hynek and CUFOS Directors Lawrence Fawcett and John P. Timmerman weekly during May near Salem, Arkansas.

Four one-week seminars are planned by the Association for Spiritual Development and Research, Inc., a non-denominational church lead by Reverend Elizabeth Nachman.

Dr. Hynek will be the speaker each Thursday evening at 8 PM. Mr. Timmerman and Mr. Fawcett will conduct a workshop on sighting report investigation each Friday afternoon from 2:00 until 5:00 P.M. Fourteen other speakers are scheduled during other parts of the week, treating a variety of subjects which may be of interest to some of our readers. Persons interested in attending one of these seminars should write to Patricia S. Bugg, P.O. Box 8, Salem, Arkansas 72576. □

CUFOS Telephone Out Of Order For Two Weeks

If you were one of the many frustrated persons who have attempted to reach our office in Evanston since March 1st, we wish to explain that the source of the problem was the complicated nature of the move of our phone line (312) 491-6666 from our previous downtown office to our new Research Office on Ridge Avenue. Illinois Bell Telephone ran into problems and failed to place our phone on answering service or call-forwarding. We apologize to those of you who must have thought we were on a long coffee break. □

All CUFOS ASSOCIATES are invited to copy the following radio announcement, which qualifies as a Public Service Announcement for a not-for-profit organization, and send it to their local radio stations' Program Managers, requesting that they use this message periodically to meet their quota of PSAs as required by the FCC.

Additional spots 15, 30 and 60 seconds in length are available. Write to CUFOS, P.O. Box 1621, Lima, OH 45802 for them.

"When early humans first observed our moon, it was a great mystery to them. Today we know much more about the moon of Earth, having sent visitors to inspect it. But, also, today we are beginning to become aware of other objects we cannot identify. The CENTER FOR UFO STUDIES is gathering information about these sightings for serious study by qualified scientists. Inform yourself so that you can accurately report what you may see to the CENTER FOR UFO STUDIES, Box 1402, Evanston, Illinois 60204." □

California Reports Increased Sightings

Recent telephone conversations with CUFOS ASSOCIATES and Field Investigators Tom Gates and Richard Haines indicate that beginning at about mid-January reports of unidentifieds have significantly increased. Between January 16th and March 7th over 24 independent reports have been received in the general area of San Francisco by a group of investigators headed up by Dick Henry, Irwin Wieder and Haines.

Because of the surge in sighting reports, a meeting was held on March 21st of ten investigators and ten witnesses of sightings in the San Jose area to fill out in a one-on-one basis a special 5-page set of forms for immediate comparison and possible correlation, using maps and blackboards to determine if any common elements were present in the data.

The sightings were mostly between 9:30 and 12:00 PM, with the greatest number occurring between February 9th and 28th. Most were reported to be very intense red globes or discs of light with hazy edges. Their sizes ranged from the size of a full-moon to one-fifth full moon size. No sounds were heard. Several reported zig-zag motions, but mostly they were hovering and/or traveling in straight lines, with one or more involving 90 degree turns. Durations ranged from 4 minutes to 45 minutes.

Witnesses included four aircraft controllers at the San Jose tower, two private pilots (one a retired captain), local businessmen, a school principal, housewives and students.

On February 21st the group set up three observation teams at the corners of a five-mile-leg triangular array, hoping to monitor a sighting with special equipment. However, no sightings were made.

Another element has been introduced to the California study. On March 3rd a 4.1 Richter scale earthquake was recorded at 2:45 AM near Fremont, California, on the Hayward fault line. Interestingly, triangulations of sightings all seem to point in the direction of the Alviso-Milpitas area, near the Hayward fault, implying the possibility of the Persinger (radiation from disintegrating quartz) effect.

The data are still being analyzed and it is too early to make any statements regarding correlation of the above events. □

Hobson & Haines on World of People

In some parts of the country viewers will be able to watch Richard Hobson, promoter of a permanent UFO exhibit at Pier 39 in San Francisco, and Dr. Richard Haines, CUFOS Scientific Board member, discussing unidentified flying objects on or about April 14th.

They will be interviewed on the NBC program WORLD OF PEOPLE which is shown on the west coast and in some other parts of the country. □

A Helicopter-UFO Encounter Over Ohio

By Jennie Zeidman

(1979, 122 pp.)

An investigation and analysis of the incident of Oct. 18, 1973 near Mansfield, Ohio in which four Army Reserve crew members watched a large metallic-looking object come so close to their helicopter that they dived to avoid a collision. As the object hovered over them, they noticed strange effects on their instruments and aircraft. Included also are interviews with a family who saw from the ground, on the same night at the same time and place, a similar unknown object (apparently the same one) and a helicopter in close proximity. Maps and charts are included, as well as accounts of other UFO sightings from aircraft.

Send $9.50 (ppd) to P.O. Box 1402, Evanston, Illinois 60204.

A carefully-observed sighting near Defiance, Ohio has been recorded and is being studied. As a result of the article in February McCall's magazine, many previously unreported cases have come to our attention, including a photograph taken by a witness from Millville, New Jersey. This brilliant ball of light appears to be identical to that in the McCall's photograph. The photograph will appear in a future issue of this NEWSLETTER. □

Milwaukee UFO Photo Exhibit Well-Attended And Produced Reports

The appearance of the CUFOS UFO PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBIT at Northridge Mall in Milwaukee was a grand success in many ways. Joined by APRO representatives in the area, CUFOS personnel made it a two-organization event, demonstrating another way in which the various national organizations can work together to achieve our individual and collective goals in UFO research.

Lead by Richard Heiden and Don Schmitt and assisted by many friends living in and near Milwaukee, the exhibit was available to the Mall visitors from March 18th through the 21st, concluding on Saturday with a public question and answer panel. Besides Heiden and Schmitt, Dr. J. Allen Hynek, Allan Hendry and John P. Timmerman were on hand to discuss the exhibit with visitors. Jerome Clark, well-known associate editor for FATE magazine joined in the two panel discussions open to the public on Friday and Saturday.

Color slide and video-tape audiovisuals were in continuous use for viewing UFOs and IFOs, together with taped talkshows by Dr. Hynek and others.

Important and interesting sighting reports were taken from visitors at the exhibit and excerpts from these reports will be included in future issues of the ASSOCIATE NEWSLETTER. Remember to encourage your local Mall Marketing Managers to consider this exhibit for your area. Details are available by writing to CUFOS, P.O. Box 1621, Lima, Ohio 45802. □

Recently Received Sighting Reports

TYPE: NL
DATE: 11-7-78
TIME: 9:30 PM
DURATION: 5 minutes
WITNESSES: 1
PLACE: South Bend, IN

While traveling westward on US 20 about 9 miles west of South Bend, Indiana, a 37-year-old housewife/student (name on file at CUFOS) suddenly noticed a large, extra bright light in the sky. It was a clear evening and she noticed the half moon and a few stars, but this single bright light was too large and too close to be a star, she recalls.

With driving and rounding a few curves she lost sight of the light, but spotted it again, this time in the northwest, having apparently moved "a great distance in a matter of less than five minutes." At first she thought it was some type of aircraft, but suddenly the light started "coming directly toward the south of" her car at a fast rate of speed. During this approach, the single bright light disappeared and there was a tremendous roar that shock the ground, like "a jet plane taking off."

At first she saw no other vehicles on the road, but as she passed a flashing intersection light and slowed to about 30 miles per hour a pickup truck passed her going "60 to 65 miles per hour." Suddenly, this hovering craft banked directly in front of her car about 30 yards away and no more than 20 feet above the ground, making a slow, deliberate turn and displaying the entire top of the craft to her view, giving her the feeling that she was being observed.

She rolled down the window of the car and turned off the radio, but there was no sound coming from the craft. It was directly in front of her . . . hovering, banking and turning back to the east along side her car not more than ten feet from the ground. It appeared to be preparing to land. Since she had driven past it, she found a place to turn around and drove back to where it must have been. However, she couldn't see anything on the ground or any lights, perhaps because her vision was obscured by some snow and bushes on the ground. She reversed her car and proceeded west, not seeing the craft again.

The craft was flat, with an oval-shaped central section and two extension sections on the sides. It was ringed with very small windows, smaller than a jet, with alternating and flashing blue and red lights near each window. The top of the craft was slightly raised and laying flat against its dull metallic hull were what appeared to be moveable antennae.

There was an airport 5 miles away, but she didn't think to call there. However, she did call the Indiana State Patrol and a cruiser responded, but found nothing. She checked the press and the military but no other reports had been made. This report is taken from notes she wrote about the incident shortly after it occurred. □

Others Under Investigation

Several very interesting cases are currently under investigation by CUFOS Field Investigators. One involves a series of high speed color photographs taken 54 miles northeast of Las Vegas on January 20, 1981 by two men with two cameras on tripods. They were taking some photographs of the full moon with a new lens system when a series of groups of very bright objects began passing through the sky near them. The uncut 35 mm Ektachrome film is now being examined by several specialists and a full report is expected in time for the next issue of the ASSOCIATE NEWSLETTER.

Another very interesting case being investigated by John Schuessler and others involves three Texans . . . Betty Cash, Vickie Landrum and Vickie's 7-year-old son, Colby . . . dramatically reported by Dick Donovan in the March 24th issue of WEEKLY WORLD NEWS.

Also, a series of reports from multiple witnesses in Oregon is under study. A photograph of what appears to be a ceiling circular flourescent light fixture, but was reportedly seen and photographed outside the house by the witness, is being checked in central New York state. And a Manhattan jogger wants to report what she saw while jogging through Central Park.
